Stock Killed By Lightning.

While John F. Barbee and five others were standing in his barn, near Millersburg, the other day during a rain storm a stroke of lightning entered the window of one of the stalls and killed a valuable pony. There were five other horses in the barn that were not hurt. The men did not even feel the slightest shock.

The same day at Shawhan Mr. E. H. Richie lost a 2-year-old mule and a filly from being struck by lightning.

Something Greater at Home.

A fitting climax for the Courier-Journal's tour to Europe party was the stop of three hours at Niagara Falls Tuesday morning. The members of the party realized that there is something greater and grander at home than anything seen abroad. All were wildly enthusiastic over the magnificence of the falls, and all regretted that more time could not be spent there.

Attend the sale of the Current property in rear of Court House tomorrow, at 3:30 o'clock.

The Skyscraper is the nearest parlor for ice cold drinks to the Fair Grounds. See Shanty and take the car at Tenth and High. (24tf)

The Illinois Central will build an electric car line from the railroad to the Springs, and make it one of the most valuable health resorts in the State.

Police Court Doings.

In the absence of Judge E. T. Hinton in Cincinnati, Judge Harmon Stitt occupied the bench in Police Court Tuesday morning, and disposed of the following docket:

Harvey Collins, colored, took a dose of whiskey that put him to sleep on the window base in front of Citizens Bank and he was taken in by Chief Hill. He was fined $5.50, but this being his first offense the fine was suspended by the kind hearted Judge.

Willis Rogers, of Mt. Olivet, came over to meet the Bourbon Fair and got mad because it was not in full blast. It took two officers to land the gentleman behind the bars. For his unruly conduct the Judge assessed him $12.50.

Charlton Noyes came to Paris in search of work and found it. He first got a full size "jag" on however and was taken in by Chief Hill. He is now at work in the city rock quarry to settle a fine of $12.50.

Women and Work.

It is prophesied by one of the leading publications of America that in one more generation the women will make the men hustle for the best paying jobs. Citing several instances in which women are already earning or receiving much more salary than the average man, it contends that proof of its claim is already at hand.

It is no doubt true that many jobs now regarded as belonging to men would be ideal employment for women. Take private secretaries. Once a woman gets a grasp on business and so rules her life that she is posted on men and affairs, it is held that she would make an ideal confidential adviser, for, though jokers and alleged funny men have had much to say about woman's lack of secretiveness and business honor, the fact remains that honest, true and constant women abound and would enter such work with enthusiasm and every expectation of success. And that's half the battle.

Among the examples given, that of Katherine Harrison, who is the private secretary of Henry H. Rogers, is made prominent. This young woman kept her employer's secrets so well that the Missouri lawyers who questioned her closely failed to learn a thing of importance. She sees everybody who comes to Mr. Rogers before he does. She is a tactful, shrewd and brainy woman, and for her services Mr. Rogers pays her $10,000 a year. She is worth more.

Other women are employed in financial houses in all the big cities of the country, and are performing their duties so well that their employers are wondering why they did not have them long before. Comparatively they are few, of course, for the majority of men still hold to the fallacy that no woman is capable of doing business for herself and therefore is not able to do it for others. There are enough of them, however, so that the claim that they will force men to their utmost to keep up with them in the future has some foundation. As to the advisability of such competition in a general way, there may be several opinions. Who will be the mothers of the race when all women take to business?

Think Before You Speak.

The meanest, lowest and most contemptible creature in the world is a man or woman who without provocation, sits up and tells things about people regardless of the consequences, merely jumping at conclusions or merely doing it to gratify some petty spite. Such people should not be tolerated in any community, and we are sorry to say that Paris has more than her share of such cattle. It is not altogether the men either, for we know several women in Paris who no more hesitate to blacken the good name of innocent people than they do to sit down to a meal or a game of euchre. In fact, it is becoming so in Paris that you can hear almost anything about anybody. Let the gossip monger and slanderer talk, if they must, but do not put yourself on the same footing with them by repeating their damnable lies. Let some of these smart and knowing men and women investigate into their own family history and maybe their dirty mouths would be closed for a time at least; you know it has been said that "every family has its skeleton."

Indications Point to Big Fair.

The President and other officers of the Bourbon County Agricultural Society inform us that everything is in readiness for the Bourbon Fair which begins Tuesday next. Every day is expected to be the big day. It opens with Children's day, which is followed Wednesday with Lexington Day. We have it from well informed Lexington people that the citizens of that city and county will be here in large numbers on Wednesday, and we are sure there will be a large crowd of our citizens on the grounds to give them a hearty welcome and to assure them we will all return the visit by attending the great Blue Grass Fair at Lexington.

There is no reason under the sun why Bourbon County should not have one of the greatest fairs ever held; we have held them here, and we are going to hold another one of them next week. It is the duty of every citizen of this county to give this newly organized society their support in every way and let the fair next week be a record breaker in way of attendance. The indications are very favorable to this end and we are predicting a big fair in every sense of the word.

Is He a "Welcher?"

The Owensboro Inquirer, a Beckham sheet, in commenting on Governor Beckham's Lexington speech says:

"Everybody knows that a strenuous effort is being made by the enemies of the Governor to array all the law-breakers in the State against him. In fact, those who want to know no law in their business are already against him. The grafters are against him because he refuses to stand for a robbery of the taxpayers in order that the grafter may financially fatten."

As a general thing law-breakers and grafters stick together closer than brothers, and if they are against Beckham there must be something radically wrong with the Governor, for he has been something of a "king bee" with this class of our citizens. Maybe he has proven to be a "welcher" with them.

The Ideal Superintendent of City Schools.

Prof. Geo. W. Chapman, Superintendent of the Paris City Schools, was on the program for an address before the meeting of the State Educational Association at Bowling Green, Ky., but was unavoidably kept from being present. His address was to have been on "The Ideal Superintendent of City Schools," and to let our people see the idea of their new Superintendent on running the City Schools, the Professor kindly let us have the manuscript of the address he was to have delivered at Bowling Green and we take pleasure in publishing it in full, viz:

The ideal is of the greatest importance because it must precede the real. The ideal is the pattern of the real, and should be perfect in its conception. The ideal superintendent is purely imaginary, fanciful, mental, intellectual, Utopian. But this should render him none the less valuable, for every thing that has ever been made was first ideal. Every work of art or sculpture, every building and piece of architecture, aye, the Universe itself, first existed in some mind or was purely ideal. So the superintendent can exist in perfection only in the ideal. But if the real is to be tolerable, the ideal must be high; the pattern must possess many elements of perfection. What constitutes the ideal superintendent of the city schools? In attempting to answer this question, we shall omit the larger cities where the executive and supervisory work are vested in different officers and confine our answer to the smaller cities and towns that are not able to pay two men to control and supervise their schools, but must combine the work in one man.

There are but few vocations or callings that demand so great and so varied qualifications. The superintendent must possess ability along more lines than almost any other business demands. What a multiplicity of powers to be centered in one fallible mortal. No wonder so many of us are failures. As before stated, the ideal superintendent must possess a varied qualification. He must know books, he must know things, he must know humanity. He must have high ideas, sound principles, good judgment, energy, and a wonderful capacity for hard labor. He must have love for children, sympathy for his teachers, patience and forbearance with his patrons and power with his Board. He must be able to do all kinds of things; he must make reports, form plans, write courses of study, act as representative of the Board of Education, hear complaints and suggestions from parents and be able to satisfy most of them, encourage and help his teachers and pupils, assume the educational leadership in the community and represent his school abroad. To be able to do all these things requires much learning, tact, knowledge of men, pedagogical knowledge and skill and great executive ability. Besides all this, he must be a man who can win the confidence of others and arouse interest and enthusiasm in them. Not only this, but he must be able to draw about him the support of his Board, his teachers and patrons, and direct them in carrying forward his well formed plans. As the successful general does not lead his army into action, but plans the battle, selects his division leaders and directs the whole fight, so it must be with the superintendent. He must not only be able to plan and direct the efforts of others, but he must be able to draw from his corps of teachers all they know. He must secure their aid in working out the details of his course of study, and methods of discipline and instruction. The ideal superintendent will not require his teachers to conform so rigidly to his own plans as to deprive them of all originality and individuality; but will leave each teacher free to manifest her own personality and thus inject her own life and individualities into her pupils. Besides being able to perform all the executive acts and supervisory work laid down in the printed rules and regulations of the schools, he must be able to act with precision and judgment in the thousands and one little details that can not be laid down in any code of rules. This is the supreme test of the executive ability and skill of the superintendent. Likewise, he must give more time and thought to supervisory work than to executive. The superintendent who confines his activity to his office, who fails to keep in touch with the actual work of the school room by frequent visits, will lose sight of his most important function. He will be out of sympathy with his teachers, with his pupils and genuine and practical educational activities. This is, in my judgment, where many superintendents fail. In this supervision, he makes his power felt, he corrects faults in methods, establishes a right spirit between teacher and pupils, inject new life and enthusiasm into the work and permeates the whole atmosphere of the school with his good will and interest and thus keep all encouraged and putting forth their best efforts. The ideal superintendent does not enter the school room with book and pencil in hand and sit down as quiet as a sphinx and write in that book while the teacher and pupils are embarrassed at his ominous conduct, wondering all the time what awful criticisms he is recording against them, but he comes in as a sympathetic friend and helper. In order to be able to do this, he must be a teacher himself who has had successful experience in all the grades for only such can properly sympathize with the teacher and pupils in their work and render them practical assistance. Here again we find the cause of many of the failures of the superintendent. But few railroad men, if any, ever fill the higher positions until they have worked their way up through the line of promotions, but, sad to relate, many men leave college, who have, perhaps, never taught a day in the grades, secure the responsible position of superintendent of some large graded school, and thus assume the leadership of a business of which they have no practical knowledge. This is, in my judgment, the cause of many of the existing evils in our public schools. Because of their scholarship they have been granted the leadership, and, being destitute of practical knowledge and without experience, they have introduced impractical theories into our school system until the practical, experienced man does not find much either in our course of study or the results obtained through and by them, of which to be proud. No man can be a successful, much less an ideal superintendent who has not begun at the bottom and worked his way up to the superintendency.

Then the ideal superintendent must be a man. He must love children and be in sympathy with them, he must love the cause of education and recognize his responsibility as leader in the great school for the training of sovereign citizenship; he must be an honest, progressive, upright citizen advocating all that is best in our civilization—all that it has cost centuries of tiresome endeavor to achieve; he must be a patriot, filled with love of his country, so that he will have an abiding interest in the proper training of every child whether rich or poor, high or low, white or black, for all are sovereign citizens of our common country. He must be ever on the alert to make needed improvements and possess tact in mustering all available forces to secure them. The ideal superintendent must be a consistent, earnest Christian gentleman who has faith in God, faith in humanity and faith in the final triumph of right. But can such a man long hold his position in many cities of the United States in these days of political intrigue and "bossism"? In many places is it not a fact that the employing Boards do not desire such a one as our ideal, but do they not rather prefer one who can serve them in furthering their own political ends? But the ideal superintendent does not stoop to do the bidding of the low politician. He stands above all such detestable demagoguery. He follows the plain path of duty and if his duties call him into places of vice and sin, there he goes, undaunted, and respectfully performs those duties and thus administers a deadly blow to vice by his simple service in the cause of right.

Such, in part, is the ideal city superintendent. Such we would place at the helm to guide our educational bark into the haven of National intelligence, prosperity and happiness.

English Trains on Time.

The public service rendered by the British railway lines, the convenience to the traveler and the shipper, is far in excess of anything to be found in this country. The British isles are absurdly small when compared with our vast areas, and this of course simplifies the operating problems. There are no snowdrifts to delay schedules, no sections of crudely built track awaiting perfection, and the locomotives are never far from their home shops. Yet even with allowance for these advantages both freight and passenger traffic are habitually handled with a regularity and certainty that deserve the highest degree of praise. In any large terminal in England the number of passenger trains that arrive either exactly on time or a minute or two ahead is far greater than that of trains even the least overdue. Five minutes is usually a safe margin for an important connection. At Finsbury Park, a suburban station just outside London, trains pass on an average of one every two minutes night and day, yet this tremendous traffic is handled with clocklike precision.—Ray Morris in Atlantic.

Queer Russian Ways.

If you drive through a Russian village about 10 p. m. you will be struck by the absolute quiet that pervades the scene. Not a creature, man or dog, is visible moving about. The place has the air of a deserted village. Suppose by some rare untoward chance you come upon a group of men standing together, apparently in conversation, you will notice that they speak in subdued tones, and wait so long as you please, you will never hear them laugh. The cause is simply this: These Russian peasants believe in evil spirits; but, unlike the Chinese, they believe that they are attracted, not frightened, by sounds. And so if some unlucky fate decrees that the moujik be out of doors after 11 p. m. he is a painfully silent man. This feeling also extends to some of the southern towns. Kiev, the holy city of Russia, is a model in this respect. After 10 p. m. you may practically have the streets to yourself.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Bearing Another's Burden.

That it is not impossible to ring a new change on woman's aversion to telling her correct age has been proved by the rector of a New York church. He does not appear to be more than fifty years old, but declared to an inquiring parishioner that he was seventy-five and added, "I shall be seventy-seven my next birthday."

"The other evening," he explained, "my wife and I computed that our combined ages foot up to a hundred years. Now, of course, no lady is ever over twenty-five years old, so to keep peace in the family I suppose I must say I'm seventy-five."

"But why will you be seventy-seven your next birthday?"

"Because my wife's birthday and mine happen to fall on the same date, and"—with a sigh of resignation—"of course I shall have to shoulder both of them."

THE LIVER QUARANTINE

"TAKING HIS MEALS OUT."

Hurried eating has ruined many a man's stomach. The digestion-destroying process is gradual, often unnoticed at first. But it is only a short time until the liver balks, the digestive organs give way, and almost countless ills assail the man who endeavors to economize time at the expense of his health.

A torpid liver causes a quarantine of the entire system. It locks in the diseased germs and body poisons and affords them full play, inviting some serious illness. In families where August Flower is used, a sluggish liver and constipation are unknown, so are all stomach ailments, as well as indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, headaches and kidney and bladder affections. No well-regulated family should be without this standard remedy.

It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Iowa, but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone, I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach." This is the second year Mr. Cleveland has topped the market and he does it by expert breeding and care in handling. He uses western-bred smooth Merino ewes and Canadian-bred Shropshire rams. There is a lesson in his achievement for the average lamb grower.

—A disease known as "black tongue" has broken out among the cattle in Rowan county and is causing considerable unrest among the owners. The inception of the ailment becomes noticeable by puffing of the ankles, accompanied with lameness, loss of appetite and the complete surface of the tongue being covered with a coat of jet black. As the disease develops the tongue becomes greatly swollen, so that the mouth is held constantly open, while the animal continually slavers. Cows show greater susceptibility to the disease and as a result the use of milk has to a great extent been suspended.

Announcement.

I take this means of notifying the people of Bourbon County that I have sold out my business to Messrs. John W. Yerkes, Jr., and J. Clarence Kenney (Yerkes & Kenney). They will take possession Sept. 1st, and the business will be conducted by the new firm on and after that date. I take pleasure in recommending these young men to every one of my customers and the trade generally. They were both raised in this county, and are well and favorably known to everybody in the community. I hope my friends will give them the same liberal patronage they have given me in the years gone by. For which I am very grateful.

In Judge Dundon's Court.

Allie Thomas, colored, was fined $25 and ten days in jail yesterday in Judge Dundon's court for carrying concealed deadly weapons. The defendant was represented by Judge H. C. Howard, who appealed the case to Circuit Court. The case against same party for shooting with intent to kill was continued until September 17.

Sam Clay's Barn Burned.

The large stock barn of Sam Clay, on the Little Rock pike, burned with contents Wednesday night. The barn was 98x48 feet and contained 200 bushels of wheat and five tons of clover hay. Loss $1,700, with no insurance.

It is certain that the fire is of incendiary origin, and Capt. Mullikin, of Wilmore, and his celebrated blood hound, "Nick Carter," was telegraphed for yesterday. They arrived last evening about six o'clock and went immediately to the scene of the fire. Up to the time we go to press we did not learn whether the dog struck a trail or not.

Attend to the Matter.

County Clerk Ed. D. Paton and his Deputy, Pearce Paton, have prepared for the use of the Assessor a list of all mortgages an lien notes recorded in his office for the last five years, and the holders will be taxed on them. In many cases these liens or mortgages have been paid in whole or in part, but the liens have not been released on the books of the Clerk. Not knowing this, the Assessor will list them at their full value and the owner will have to pay taxes on them or be at some trouble in procuring a remittance. Let those whose liens have been paid see to it that these liens are released in the Clerk's office and thereby save themselves possible trouble.

The Current property, in rear of Court House, will be sold tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock.

All visitors to the Fair are invited to make our store their meeting place. First National Safe Opened.

The doors of the first National Bank safe, which have been closed for several days on account of a loose screw in the mechanism of the time lock, was opened yesterday morning at five o'clock. The delay was caused by the extra heavy tempered plates, six in number. The expert safe opener, Mr. W. P. Mayfield, of Lexington, had to secure especially prepared tools for the work, which were made by Mr. Ed. McKimsey, of this city, who assisted Mr. Mayfield in his work on the safe. Mr. Mayfield demonstrated that he was an expert in this line by saving the interior of four plates the bolt work and the combination and time lock by his careful and skillful manipulations of the outside plates. He will have the safe as good as new in a few days.

The Myrtle-Harder Company that appears in this city each night next week is guaranteed by Manager Bolland of the Grand to be a big city company, the plays given are all new for this city and special scenery is used for each production. To enable the public to see for themselves that the above is true and that the company is a capable one, on Monday night, one thirty-five cent reserved seat ticket will be given away with each thirty-five cent ticket purchased before six o'clock on the opening night. These tickets will admit any lady to any part of the house. This is done to fill the house the first night, for after the company is seen once, there will be no trouble in filling the house each night thereafter. Remember free tickets are for Monday night only. Seats on sale Friday at Oberdorfer's. Don't fail to see the box trick Monday night.

Phil Nippert, Jr., Fell From a Freight Train and Has Right Arm Cut Off.

Phil Nippert, Jr., who has been visiting his old home for several days after an absence of four years, met with a serious accident Wednesday night, which came near proving fatal. He was on top of a freight train which was leaving here for Cincinnati about 8 o'clock, and as he attempted to step from one car to another he fell between them to the track, the train passing over his right arm between the elbow and hand. The accident happened at what is known as the "second car bridge," just outside of city limits north of the town. He recovered from the shock of the fall and walked back to Paris, with his arm crushed and hanging by threads and stopped at the first house after crossing the swinging bridge, which is the jail. Jailor Judy kindly took him in and immediately summoned a physician. He was afterwards removed to the office of Drs. Fithian & Daugherty, where his arm was taken off near the elbow by Drs. Fithian, Daugherty and Keller. He stood the operation well and is now resting comfortably in a room in the Howard building, on Main, adjoining the Windsor Hotel.

Phil Nippert is one of the brightest and most competent young business men that was ever raised in Paris, and he is remembered by all as the jolly Phil, always greeting you with a bright and sunny smile. Misfortune has overtaken him, as it has many bright young men before, yet there is not a person in our city whose heart does not go out in the tenderest sympathy for him, and his many old friends trust that this accident may be the turning point in his life and be the means of him coming to his real self and regaining the respect and high regard that his capabilities can command in the business world.

Advertise in the News.

The three fine Boston Terrier pups advertised by Mr. Ed Hill in the News last week has sold two of them, one to an Indiana man and one in Paris. The puppies sold for $35 each. Mr. Hill has only one of the litter left.

A New Roofing and Filler.

Mr. W. H. Ingels, of this city, has taken the State agency for a new flexible roofing, covered with crushed granite, also for a filler for the interior of your house. These articles are guaranteed for ten years, and in every instance where they have been used, at the expiration of the ten years they were found to be as good as when put on. He has just completed a residence for himself, on 15th street, where he used both the filler and roofing, and invites every one who is contemplating building to call and examine the articles where they are in practical use.

Violating Cigarette Law.

County Clerk Paton informs us that there is a number of persons in Paris openly violating the cigarette law, and hands us the following law on the subject which he intends to mail a copy to each of our merchants:

Extract from chapter 22 relating to Revenue and Taxation, act of 1906. "Article 12, Subdivision 4.—Before engaging in any occupation or selling any article named in this subdivision the person desiring to do so shall procure license and pay the tax thereon as follows:

"To selling by retail cigarette paper, whether the cigarette paper be sold or given away, attached to packages of tobacco, or thrown down, or away, or so placed as to put the parties in possession of same by artifice or trick, ten dollars per annum."

Big Trust Company Goes to Wall.

The Real Estate Trust Company, of Philadelphia, Wednesday closed its door because of inability to meet its obligations. George H. Earle was appointed receiver. Frank H. Hipple, president of the company, who died suddenly last Friday was responsible, it is claimed for the failure, by reason of having loaned large sums on insufficient security. The liabilities of the company are $10,000,000, against which there are quick assets of about $3,500,000.

An Appeal.

Finding it impossible to call, in person, upon a large number of citizens of Paris and the county, we take this means of soliciting donations of the following articles for the dinners we are to serve at the Bourbon Fair next week: Ham, beef, mutton, chickens, eggs, butter, cheese, cream, watermelons, apples, coffee, lemons and pickles. Donations of any of these edibles, in any amount, will be greatly appreciated. We have undertaken to lift the debt from our church, and appeal to the generous-hearted people of the community, who have been so liberal in the past, to assist us on this occasion. All donations may be left each day of next week, beginning with Monday, at the rooms opening on Fourth street, in the rear of the Deposit Bank, and but recently vacated by the Adams Express Company. Several young ladies will be in attendance each day to receive same. Those who desire to donate cream will kindly leave it at the place designated early Wednesday morning. Donations, in any quantity, of the above articles, will be most thankfully received by THE LADIES OF THE METHODIST CHURCH.

Important Meeting of Interurban Promoters.

An important meeting of interurban railroad promoters in the interest of the Lexington, North Middletown and Sharpsburg road was held at North Middletown Wednesday. There were present 25 from Lexington, 15 from Sharpsburg, 10 from Clintonville and 75 from North Middletown. Committees were appointed and everything looked favorable to the building of this road.

We did all in our power through the columns of this paper to get our citizens to take some interest in the proposed road from Paris to North Middletown, but it was all for naught, so if Lexington gets the road there should be no kick coming from the Paris people.

Free Attractions at the Fair.

The free attractions at the old Bourbon Fair, September 4-8, will be the best presented by any agricultural fair in Central Kentucky. Reckless Russell in his dare devil bicycle leap will be there. Lafayette, the aeronaut, will make his balloon ascension and from a dizzy height will return to earth suspended from a parachute. Zingarella, in her famous spiral act, has never been seen in this part of the country. Wherever she has given exhibitions she has pleased the people, as her feat is one of the most thrilling and sensational acts ever attempted in mid air.

McCreary and Beckham Meet.

At a conference in Lexington Senator McCreary and Gov. Beckham agreed on the inadvisability of perfecting plans, at the present time, for their joint debates as candidates for the United States Senate. The two candidates chatted pleasantly for two hours and decided to wait until after the Bryan reception in Louisville before meeting again to arrange for the debates. The question of the effect of the debates on the chances of the various Congressional candidates will be submitted to them for discussion.

Caterpillar Fever.

The symptoms of the ailment known to doctors as "caterpillar rash" are intense irritation on the palms, and sometimes on the face, accompanied by a number of blisterlike swellings which, when they occur round the eyes, sometimes have the effect of obstructing vision. The preventive is to leave hairy caterpillars alone. As the "palmer worm," the hairy caterpillar of the gold tail moth, one of the commonest and most beautiful objects of the country at midsummer, passes from hand to hand, it leaves on every palm a few of its loosely attached hairs, and those hairs are possessed, for the protection of the caterpillar against birds and browsing animals, of what scientists call "irritating properties." "Urtica" is the Latin for "nettle." Many other hairy caterpillars are almost as bad as the "palmer worm," and as a general rule the less you handle any hairy caterpillar the better.—London Mail.

The Benefit of Exercise.

Exercise does for the body what the mountain side does for the stream of water. When the water runs down the mountain side it is a babbling brook, leaping out into the air now and then, throwing itself into spray, exposing itself to the air and sunshine and the waters are crystal pure. In the valley or on a level plain the waters may form stagnant pools and get covered over with slime of all sorts and inhabited by all kinds of filthy creeping things. Some people let themselves get into the condition of that stagnant pool and then wonder why the frogs croak in their brains and why the birds do not sing instead. When a person gets into the condition where the body is like a stagnant pool a radical change must be made in his life. He must begin by getting vitalized, new blood into all his cells and tissues.—Good Health.

Jackson in Triumph.

After the battle of New Orleans, says Thomas E. Watson in his magazine, when the victor had been crowned with laurel in the cathedral and acclaimed like a demigod through the streets, it was of his mother that he spoke to the officers whom he was about to disband—their glorious work being done. "Gentlemen, if only she could have lived to see this day!" As you follow the narrative of Andrew Jackson's career, you will hear him say many things that you will not approve, will see him do many things which you cannot applaud, but when you recall that at the very top notch of his success and his pride his heart stayed in the right place and was sore because his mother could not be there to gladden her old eyes with the glory of her son you will forgive him much in his life that was harsh and cruel and utterly wrong.

Sweetheart of "Robin Adair."

"Robin Adair" was written by Lady Caroline Keppel, the daughter of the Earl of Albemarle. Robin was a real character, a young Irish doctor who had been forced by a scandalous adventure to leave Ireland and seek his fortune in England. Chance threw a rich patient in his way, a lady of quality, and at her house he met Lady Caroline, and the result was a case of love at first sight on both sides. Her parents objected and sent her away, and during her absence she produced the song.

England's Youngest Bride.

The youngest bride who was ever led to the altar in England, so far as we can discover, was little Catherine Apsley, who had only seen four summers when she became the wife of the first Earl Bathurst, who was exactly double her age. The tiny ring worn by Catherine on this occasion, over two centuries ago, is still preserved. Lord Bathurst survived to see the eighty-third anniversary of his wedding day, while his lady was a wife for seventy-six years.—London Chronicle.

Objection Removed.

"You objected to Jack because he had to work for a living, didn't you, mamma?" "Yes, my dear. He doesn't belong to our class." "Well, it's all right now. May he call tonight?" "Has some one left him a fortune?" "No, but he's lost his job."—Cleveland Leader.

Wanted Some of the Same.

A little boy was taken by his father into a cafe for dinner. As they were eating their dessert the father handed the waiter a bill, which that worthy carried to the cashier's desk, returning presently with a little pile of change on a silver plate. Robby's eyes grew bright. "Oh, papa," he said, "I'd like a plate of that too!"—New York Herald.

Gounod's Progress.

"As you advance further in your art," said Gounod to a young poet, "you will come to think of the great poets of the past as I now appreciate the great musicians of former times. When I was your age I used to say 'If at twenty-five I said 'I and Mozart,' at forty, 'Mozart and I,' now I say 'Mozart.'"

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.E. A. Gullion, of New Castle, Henry County, Announces His Candidacy.

Facts Upon Which He Relies For Support; Former Superintendent and Teacher; Ex-President of Kentucky Educational Association—What Prominent School Men Say.

NEW CASTLE, KY., Aug. 18, 1906.

To Democratic Voters of Kentucky:

I am a candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction in Kentucky, and ask you to nominate me for that most honorable position at the Democratic primary to be held November 6.

It is proper that I should state some facts about myself in order that Democrats may determine if I am worthy and competent.

THE REFORMATION OF A COUNTY.

The following statement is just received from Carrollton, Ky.:

"To the Democratic Voters of Kent.—'tucky: Having learned that E. A. Gullion, a former citizen of our (Carroll) county, is a candidate for the very important office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, we desire to commend him to your favorable consideration."

"During a term of sixteen years" "Mr. Gullion was Superintendent of Common Schools for Carroll county," "and it is with pride that we say he administered the office with signal ability. He raised the standard of scholarship among teachers and created a public enthusiasm in the cause of education that led to an immense improvement of the schools. Indeed, the schools of Carroll county, were placed on such a high plane that we pointed to them with pride, knowing them to be unsurpassed by any other schools. There was a corresponding improvement during his incumbency, in houses, furnishings, and apparatus. In short, there was substantial improvement in all educational matters—a revival, a reformation!"

"Mr. Gullion has had liberal experience in both teaching and superintending, and is abreast of the times in methods and agencies. His knowledge of the common school system, as well as of the rights and duties of officers, patrons, and pupils, is not merely theoretical, but thoroughly practical. Withal, he has the power to arouse enthusiasm, being an enthusiast himself in the matter of common school education."

"We were county officers during all or part of the time he was Superintendent and are familiar with his work while in office."

(The above statement is signed by Judge J. A. Donaldson and the other county officials who were then in office; also by the present officers and bankers. Every citizen of that county would sign it if requested.)

I have taught in schools ranging from the common school in the beech woods to the lower classes in one of our leading colleges. IN THE K. E. A. AND BEFORE LEGISLATURE.

For more than twenty years I have been attending the State Teachers' Association and in 1896 was president of that honorable body. The published proceedings and addresses show that I was active in all movements for the betterment of public schools, originating some of them. This is particularly true as to the agitation for normal schools, longer school terms, better schoolhouses, modern equipment and compulsory attendance. As chairman of a Legislative Committee appointed by the Kentucky Educational Association, I pressed upon the General Assembly divers amendments looking to those ends and procured their passage. I am the author of the plan by which three and four months' schools were abolished, and wrote the amendment that effectuated the plan. The selfsame committee brought about most of the beneficial changes that have been made in the school law in the past fifteen years, the result being a gradual development of the common school system.

THE END NOT YET.

If nominated I shall be elected, in which event I shall devote whatever time and talent I have to the great cause in which are centered the dearest interests of the children and the Commonwealth. We shall make progress along all the lines indicated, for a brighter era has evidently dawned. It shall be my highest and most cherished ambition to foster and develop the State's normal schools until they shall be adequate for all and good enough for the best—unsurpassed by those of any other State. To better correlate common schools with high schools and high schools with colleges, so as to unify our entire educational system, will also be a matter for my best thought and effort.

WHAT SOME ABLE SCHOOL MEN SAY.

Many prominent school men have written to me, some urging me to become a candidate, others endorsing my candidacy. From the mass I select a few expressions:

Sup't M. A. Cassidy, Lexington City Schools: "You are worthy and well qualified; you have been an enthusiastic public school man ever since you became a man; you would know how to meet the problems of elementary and secondary education as few other men could; and, above all, you would know how to get in touch with school officers and teachers. You may quote me anywhere as being for you first last and all the time."

Hon. Jas. H. Fuqua, Superintendent of Public Instruction: "During your term of service as Superintendent of Carroll county you brought your schools to the highest degree of excellence."

Prof. C. A. Leonard, Sup't, Cynthiana schools: "I hope you will announce at once and make a thorough canvass of the State; I shall work for you."

Prof. W. H. Bartholomew, Principal Girls' High School, Louisville: "A friend of public instruction when the cause needed friends. Gullion merits the honor of the Superintendency."

Pres. Jas. K. Patterson, State College, Lexington: "Without disparagement to any other public man who has labored for the development of the educational and material interests of the Commonwealth, I say without reserve that I know of no man who has done better work than yourself."

Prof. R. M. Shipps, Sup't. Winchester schools: "I shall do my best for you wherever I go; although I do not know you personally, I know from your reputation that you are worthy and capable. I have no ax to grind."

Sup't E. W. Weaver, formerly of Bellevue and Paris schools, now of Brooklyn, N. Y.: "You are the best, most enthusiastic and most practical school superintendent I have known. A strong point in your favor is that you have come from the ground up."

Prof. J. T. Gaines, Principal, &c., Louisville: "You are a member of the Old Guard. Your service as a worker for better education of the masses has been unflagging and continuous. You have in my opinion the exact record and experience that best fit the man who ought to be chosen at this time."

Prof. R. H. Carrothers, formerly principal of Male High School, Louisville: "I have long considered you one of the hardest workers and most efficient advocates of good schools. We are now, after a vigorous campaign of more than 20 years, realizing the fruits of these efforts in the establishment of the State Normal schools."

The statements herein are not prompted by a vainglorious spirit, but are intended to show, and do show, I submit, that my experience has been such as to give me peculiar fitness for the most honorable office the people can bestow, the State Superintendency. The best commanders usually come up from the trenches. Respectfully,

E. A. GULLION.

Magnificent Entertainment For The Visitors To
The Bourbon County Fair.—Most Thrilling
Performances Ever Witnessed In This Section.

"Reckless Russell's Death Daring Dive.—Zingarella, Aerial Artist.—Other Notable Features.
A Feast of Fun and Enjoyment.

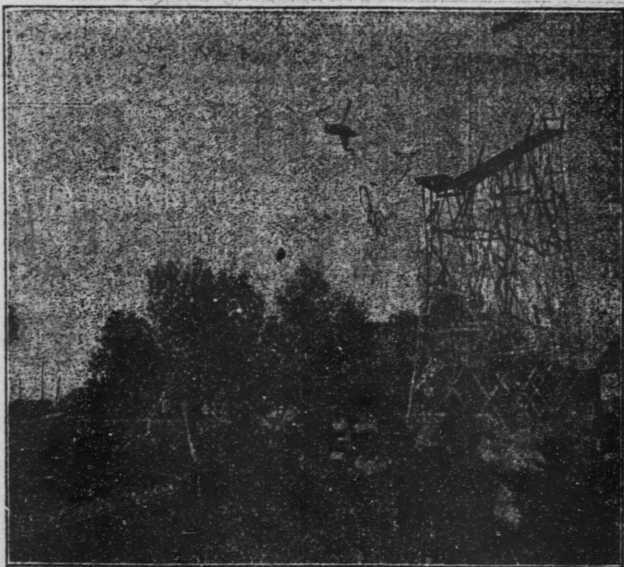

The management of the new Bourbon County Fair is pleased to announce to the people of this section of the State that the arrangements have all been completed for the finest line of free attractions ever brought to a fair in this State.

The management will have some midway shows on the grounds to which admission will be charged by those in charge of them, but the attractions will be almost entirely free.

This has been determined on in order that the people who come to the fair may have the maximum amount of amusement at the least possible cost to them. These free attractions are Another astounding feat that will be performed will be that of Mlle. Zingarella, who will give two performances a day, rolling down an incline plane seventy feet on a glass ball. This is a fascinating feat, one that holds the spectator spell-bound for a few moments, and is in every way wonderful. Those who miss seeing this great performance will miss one of the most exciting and thrilling sights ever witnessed.

The fair that goes before the people without a balloon ascension is not in it. So the management has engaged the services of the renowned aeronaut, Prof. Lafayette, who will make an as-all clean and wholesome amusements, and such as any child might see with propriety.

In fact there will be nothing objectionable allowed on the grounds of any kind, as the fair is to be in every respect clean and above criticism.

One of the greatest attractions will be Reckless Russell, one-legged king of Diving Bicyclists, will dive twice each day during the fair—in the morning and afternoon. This is one of the most sensational performances now being given in this country, and will be thrilling and picturesque in every particular.

This is just what everyone will see who attends the fair, a sight that has been seen by comparatively few from this section.

Every day during the fair this exhibition will be in plain view of all and absolutely free.

Reckless Russell will next week exhibit at the Iowa State Fair, at Dubuque, and everywhere he goes his daring feats attract thousands of spectators.

The management of the fair is anxious for everyone who comes to have a good time, and for this reason has gone to a large expense to provide these free attractions.

The railroads have given a special low rate from all points in this section and with that inducement all the people should be here to see the great fair, that will have many interesting features, such as live stock exhibits, the finest and best stock and poultry, exhibits and the greatest line of free attractions ever witnessed in Kentucky.

Known by Instinct.

To understand war, says the author of "A People at School," is an instinct. To illustrate the aphorism he tells a story of an English general whose understanding of sounds was phenomenal. One night, he says, after dinner they were all sitting talking at headquarters. They were expecting an attack, and sentries and pickets were posted far out beyond the stockade. Suddenly we heard one shot. Of course every one jumped up. The bugles sounded; the men fell in; the officers ran to their posts. General Symons alone had not moved. After listening intently for a moment or two he had sat down again. I myself was between two minds whether to go out with one of the parties hastily assembling outside or to stay with the general. So I stood irresolutely by the door.

"You can sit down," said Symons. "It is nothing. A sentry has let off his rifle by accident. That is all."

So it proved. While he was leaning upon his rifle it had gone off, and so had his fingers.

Trying to Charm Away Epilepsy.

We need not go to Servia or Natal or farther than Devonshire to find superstitions. Only the other day in a Devonshire village a woman was supposed to have had epilepsy exorcised in the following way: She went to the village church, accompanied by twenty-nine married men, who left her sitting silent in the porch while they entered the building for service. After service each of the twenty-nine as he passed out dropped a penny in her lap, and when the churchwarden had made a similar contribution the thirty pence in copper were changed by him into a silver half crown, out of which he had a ring forged to be worn by the epileptic as an infallible charm against her disorder. If, however, the woman uttered a single word from the moment she left her house till her return the charm must fail.—T. P.'s Weekly.

Varying Weight of the Body.

A physician points out that several fallacies are common with regard to the weight of the human body. The man who congratulates himself on his gain of several pounds in weight in a given period may have no cause for rejoicing, for he may be under a delusion. Very few persons, says the investigator, have any correct idea of their own weight. As a matter of fact, the weight of the body is continually changing owing to innumerable influences. On a warm day after breakfast a man will lose more than a third of a pound per hour. Seventy per cent of the body contains water, and its weight varies constantly. The inference to be drawn from the loss or gain of a pound or two may be mistrusted. Fluctuations of a few ounces are a sign that the body is in a healthy state.—Milwaukee Citizen.

Gold Horseshoes in Olden Times.

Roman writers inform us that Commodus caused the hoofs of his horses to be covered with gold leaf and even the fetlocks to be gilded. Nero's short journeys were invariably performed on white mules wearing gold shoes on their fore feet and silver behind. The beasts which drew the chariots of his wife, Poppaea, were shod all around with gold. Several others among the dignitaries and potentates of the riotous days of the Roman empire shod their horses with gold and used the same material for bridle bits, buckles, spurs, etc.

The Life Line on the Foot.

Starting from the base of the big toe there is a distinct line. That is the life line. In one foot it will curve along until it terminates under the instep far toward the lower base of the little toe. This means long life. If broken in the hollow of the foot it denotes a sickness at middle age, and if it terminates in the hollow of the foot it means a short life. This line is the most interesting one on the foot. The experiments that have been conducted have proved this to be an almost unfailing reading of longevity.

Simon and Grevy.

Jules Simon said that the most exciting moment of his life was when he was trying to obtain a concession on tariff from a foreign diplomat with whom President Grevy was playing billiards. He whispered to Grevy to lose the game, but Grevy insisted on playing to win and relented only when he observed that the minister was in anguish.

Language of the Heart.

The language of the heart which comes from the heart and goes to the heart is always simple, graceful and full of power, but no art of rhetoric can teach it. It is at once the easiest and most difficult language—difficult since it needs a heart to speak it; easy because its periods, though rounded and full of harmony, are still unstudied.—Bovee.

Measure For Measure.

"And the name is to be"—asked the suave minister as he approached the font with the precious armful of fat and flounces.

"Augustus Philip Ferdinand Codrington Chesterfield James Stone Snook."

"Dear, dear," said the minister to the (son). "A little more."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address:

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress:
W. P. KIMBALL, of Fayette.

McCreary at Owenton.

Senator McCreary spoke to a crowd of 1,000 Democrats at the courthouse at Owenton, Monday. His reception was kindly and cordial. Judge W. P. Yancey in a stirring ten-minute speech introduced him. Senator McCreary in his opening remarks referred feelingly to his race for Governor twenty-six years ago when Owen county furnished the votes that nominated him for Governor.

Among other things the Senator said:
"My distinguished opponent who has been Governor of this State longer than any other man with the exception of one, tells you that you ought to retire me and elect him because he has made a good record for Governor. He has made a good Governor and from his crown of works well-done I would not take a single plume. But he ought to accord to me the same meed of praise that he takes to himself. I was for him and helped him manage his campaign for Governor when he was only a boy. I am for him yet, but I think that he can afford to wait and grow for several years before he becomes our Senator. There are no better people on earth than the people of Kentucky and Owen county, 'Sweet Owen,' God bless her, is in the very fore-front of the counties of Kentucky. Her people are bred right and whether they vote for me or against me, I am willing to say that they vote right."

He Objects to Burial.

Refusing to be comforted for the loss of the wife who was his chum for nearly thirty years, Thomas W. Lawson, of Boston, sits all day beside the unburied body at the magnificent Dreamworld estate in Scituate and paces the floor of his bedroom most of the night. Each morning he covers the hermetically sealed casket with the most beautiful flowers, and there remains with it until dark, alone and silent. His grief is heart rending, and has shown no sign of being less acute today than the day his wife died suddenly, nearly a month ago.

He has completely abandoned business, having left all his vast interests on "the street" to his private secretary, Edward F. McSweeney, and all attempts to induce him to resume his activities are failures. After Mrs. Lawson's funeral in Boston, her husband had the body taken to Dreamworld and there placed in the living room of the little English cottage on the grounds, which Mrs. Lawson had named "The Nest." There it remains, Mr. Lawson refusing to permit its burial. All his daughters are with him, and his son, Arnold, is also at Dreamworld. Scarcely any others are permitted within the grounds.

Mr. Sweeney Tuesday said of Mr. Lawson:
"Mr. Lawson has received a tremendous shock in the death of his wife, as she was for a long time and in so great a measure the principal part of his life."

Can This Be True?

The Bachelor—I wonder why the average married woman is so anxious to be seen with her husband in public? The Maid—I don't know, of course, but I think it's because a public place is the only one in which a woman can induce her husband to treat her with due consideration.

The Hen's Joke.

After the great flood the old hen gazed ruefully upon her nest. "It's all over now," she sighed, "those swell bantams won't notice my brood after this."

Cruel, indeed, are the bans of swell society.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHEHEY & CO. Toledo, O.

Pony's Long Run.

Having broke away from its new owner at Columbus, Neb., a small white pony made the run of 90 miles in less than two days, arriving at its old home in Council Bluffs, Ia. The animal was purchased a few days ago by W. K. Lay, of Columbus. From the first he evidenced a dislike for his new owner, and the day after reaching Columbus he broke away and started east on a dead run. Mr. Lay sent bulletins ahead asking that the pony be headed off, as he had been warned the animal was apt to try to return to Council Bluffs, but the pony eluded all attempts to intercept him. He passed through Omaha on the run, covered from head to foot with mud.

Opening of New Olympic Theatre, Cincinnati, September 2.

The New Olympic, the finest and most handsomely equipped vaudeville theatre in America, and the only absolutely safe fire-proof play house in Ohio, will open with matinee on Sunday, September 2nd. Manager W. S. Cleveland, has secured for the opening week an unparalleled list of all-star, all-feature numbers for the inaugural bill. Among others, Joe Welch, Hebrew impersonator, who stars at the head of his own company and who will forsake the legitimate for one week on account of Cincinnati's big theatrical event; Della Fox, the well-known comic opera and musical star, will also be on for the opening week; Chevalier de Loris and company, whose spectacular exhibition of marksmanship, chock full of sensational feats, makes their the most eagerly sought for novelty in all the world; Tom Nawn and his famous company in "Paa and the Genii," just back from Australian successes; Daisy Harcourt, English Coster Singer who comes from the Palace, London, after a six months European engagement. Another feature of unusual merit is the Colby Family, the best musical act to be had at any price; Greene & Werner, "The Jungle Babes," also come for the entire week. All these, together with the Duffin-Reday Troupe, known the world over as "Monarchs of the Air," go to make up a show that Cincinnati fans will talk about for months to come. The sale of seats for September is on and from present indications there will not be much more than breathing room in "The Olympic" during Fall Festival time. Popular prices, 15, 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents will prevail.

Baptists' Endorsement of Governor Not Political.
Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 28, 1906. To the Editor of the Herald:
In order to correct an impression created by newspapers of this city that the Franklin Baptist Association on the 23rd inst., in session with the Baptist church of Bethel, Franklin county, personally endorsed Governor Beckham, the secretary of the association desires to say that the report of the committee on temperance was adopted by the association, in which the acts of the Legislature were endorsed and the moral support tendered all friends of temperance who took part in the passage of the county unit bill. This, and nothing more, was intended or enacted, and the secretary, from a very general acquaintance with the membership of the association, as well as with the audience, he being a resident of the vicinity, is of the positive opinion that at least four-fifths of the whole assemblage were in favor of McCreary for Senator, and only tendered moral support to Governor Beckham or any other member of the recent Legislature.

Another Fool Killed.

Robert Williams, of Lynchburg, Va., was instantly killed recently, while trying to get a light for his cigarette by holding a piece of paper against an arc street light.

Smugglers Reap Rich Harvest.

According to reports made to the treasury department by prominent importers, the diamonds, pearls and other jewels, smuggled into the country free of duty are equal in value to those on which duty is paid. It has been stated that the actual value of dutiable gems imported was not less than $60,000,000. The rapid rise in the prices of precious stones has caused many persons to run the risk of being detected in smuggling for the sake of getting them into the country.

White Man Wedded Negress.

Lewis M. Cleverly, a white man, of Savannah, Ga., and Katie Bowles, a colored woman, were married, recently, at Washington, D. C., by Rev. E. W. S. Cleverly is 39 years of age and was a widower. The woman is 22 years old.

Do You Want to Know

What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of MEDICINES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock" as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery," the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all hating critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed, free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not breed the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.
